Wal-Mart plans Waveland store

JDN Properties has announced that Wal-Mart plans to open a 65,930-square-foot store in Waveland in February 1988.

Last month JDN, a development company with offices in Atlanta and Franklin, Tenn., announced it would construct a shopping center on a 19-acre, L-shaped tract in Waveland near the intersection of U.S. 90 and Mississippi 603.

Wal-Mart is the first store to announce operations on the site, but other free-standing buildings are included in the overall plans and will be available for lease, Harold Jackson of JDN said.

Bay holiday garbage pickup change noted

Gulf Coast Waste Disposal, garbage and trash collectors for the City of Bay St. Louis, report collections normally made on the Thursdays of Nov. 27, Dec. 25 and Jan. 1 will be made on the day before.

The company urges residents to place materials for pickup on the appropriate Wednesdays early in the day.

"We will be running extra equipment to complete the routes early," noted Paul Montjoy of Bay St. Louis, company manager.

Waveland city holiday schedule listed

The regular Wednesday trash collection by the City of Waveland will be cancelled next week in keeping with the city's Thanksgiving holiday schedule.

Thursday's regular garbage pickups will be made Wednesday, according to Arcelyn Dastugue, city clerk.

City Hall will be closed Thursday through Sunday, but outside city crews will work Friday, Dastugue noted.

Thanksgiving Community Service set

The 1986 Community Thanksgiving Service will be hosted by First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis, according to Dr. Nathan L. Barber, pastor.

This service will be held on Tuesday night, Nov. 25 at 7 p.m.

The entire Bay/Waveland community is invited and encouraged to attend, Barber said.

The worship will center around the theme Thanksgiving Perspectives: A Community Counts Its Blessings.

A time of fellowship with refreshments will follow in the Fellowship Hall.

A number of pastors and community leaders will be involved in the Thanksgiving Worship Service and the Main Street United Methodist Handbell Choir will be featured, as well as the youth choir from the First Missionary Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis.

Special offering will be collected for the Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund, Inc.

Sen. Smith serving final term

State Sen. Martin T. Smith of Poplarville announced this week that he will not seek re-election when his term expires Jan. 5, 1988.

Smith said his law practice is continually requiring more of his time. Smith, 52, is a partner in the Poplarville law firm of Smith, Smith, Tate and Crutcher and is Poplarville's city attorney.

His senatorial district includes the Crane Creek, Flat Top, Standard and Leetown precincts in Hancock County as well as all of Pearl River and Stone Counties and a portion of Harrison County.

"My term doesn't expire for another year, and it's going to be a good year and I'm going to give it my full responsibility. I felt that by making the fact known now, those who normally wouldn't run against me will run," said Smith.

He said he made his decision not to run again last December.

"I just felt it was time to move on to other things," he said. "I've still got a lot of good years left in me. I don't consider it retirement, just venturing into other things."

Smith said he doesn't have any future political ambitions.

His wife is a teacher at a state-supported junior college, but Smith said the state's new strict interpretation of the conflict-of-interest law didn't influence his decision to leave politics.

Smith began serving in the Senate in 1968. He has served as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee for the past eight years.

Excavation ordinance passed

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
An ordinance to protect the city from repair expenses to underground utility lines damaged by companies working in the area becomes official today.

Bay St. Louis Councilmen recently approved the new ordinance to regulate installation and construction of underground facilities.

Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. presented the ordinance to the council following a recent break in the city's major sewage line by a company laying a telephone cable.

By utilizing city crews, the repairs were completed for only $10,548.

However, if the city had hired a contractor to make the repairs the cost would have exceeded $30,000, according to Norbert Redmond, director of the Department of Public Works.

This damage to the city's main sewage line running along Central Avenue, was caused by a trenching machine which was excavating a ditch to lay a fiber optic cable for Sprint Company.

Redmond said the company had called on the city to locate all lines in the area before digging but the line was not in the exact location as shown on official drawings.

A sewage flow of approximately 600,000 gallons a day goes through this line which empties into the sewage lagoon on Turner Street.

Repair of the broken line took nearly 48 hours.

During this time, sewage was taken by truck to the lagoon and allowed to flow into a pit near the railroad, Redmond said.

Immediate repairs to the line were impossible because of the unavailability of necessary parts, he added.

The clamp needed to repair the 18-inch line had to be specially made and shipped from Dallas, Texas, Redmond said.

He also said the Environmental Protection Agency had approved of all measures taken by the city during the incident.

Basically before the recent draft of the excavation ordinance the city did not have one to deal with digging, Redmond said.

"We were going under the statutes in the Mississippi Code which are very broad," he said.

This ordinance should safeguard the city even if a company doing ex-

Cuevas defeated in close race

Dedeaux elected to school board

BY DENA BISNETTE

Barbara Dedeaux is the new Hancock County School Board representative for Beat Two.

Dedeaux, a special education teacher from Catahoula, defeated incumbent Monvel Cuevas of Leetown in a close race Tuesday.

Unofficial totals showed Dedeaux with 864 votes and Cuevas with 807 votes.

Hancock County Election Commission Secretary Charles Gottschalk said that 11 affidavit votes will be counted today and will added when the election commission certifies the totals.

"I thank God and all the voters of Hancock County who supported me. I plan to do my best to help upgrade education in Hancock County," Dedeaux said.

When she takes office in January, Dedeaux will be one of three teachers on the board. The others are Lenette Necaise and Frank Miller, elected Nov. 3 to represent Beat One.

"That's good because we know what's going on in the schools. We are aware of that; we know what the children go through and what the teachers go through," she added.

Cuevas also thanked his supporters and said he plans to continue supporting education in the county. He has served 12 years on the board.

He got most of his votes from the northern precincts in the at-large election, while in most of the southern precincts the majority voted for Dedeaux.

In some precincts, particularly those where most of the voters live in the cities of Waveland or Bay St. Louis and could not participate, turn-out was low.

No one voted in Waveland East, which is believed to include no county voters but was opened on the orders of the election commission.

According to Election Commissioner James Ladner, the precinct was challenged for the Nov. 3 election.

"The people we received the challenge from contended that there are some county residents living in that precinct and that they should have been allowed to vote," Ladner said.

"We determined that there are no county voters in Waveland East but we opened the precinct anyway because the challenge was presented to us only a few days ago and it was too late to do anything else about it."

No one voted at Arlington precinct either. Gottschalk said there are fewer than 10 county residents registered to vote at Arlington.

Margins between the candidates were as small as three votes in some precincts.

Returns for the individual precincts included:

- Courthouse, Cuevas 3, Dedeaux 3;
- Edwardsville, Cuevas 0, Dedeaux 1;
- Clermont Harbor, Cuevas 8, Dedeaux 33;
- Lakeshore, Cuevas 24, Dedeaux 97;
- West Shoreline Park, Cuevas 11, Dedeaux 24;
- Bayou Phillip, Cuevas 23, Dedeaux 12;
- Ansley, Cuevas 9, Dedeaux 33;

Parent protests discipline

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

A concerned parent of two Gulfview Elementary students attended Monday's Hancock County School Board meeting to protest recent disciplinary actions against his children.

The parent said there appear to be serious deficiencies in the assertive discipline program in use at the school.

Among his complaints were lack of parental notification and lack of consideration of the circumstances. Superintendent Terrell Randolph said the assertive discipline program is only in its second year of use but is an improvement over previous discipline programs.

"The assertive discipline program has been working in the various district schools but may need to be modified," he added.

According to Randolph the program has been reviewed by a committee of teachers, parents and students to make needed modifications.

He also said the program will be reviewed on an annual basis and suggested the concerned parent submit any suggestions on the program to the committee.

One of the best things about the uniform adoption of the assertive discipline program, Randolph feels, is that all schools in the district have the same discipline penalties for equal offenses.

"This prevents students from receiving different punishments for the same offense," he added.

While the program is new and may need adjustments, it is certainly better than what we had, Randolph said.

In other business the board:

—Approved a pay certificate for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to pay the Nov. 15 payment on the school transportation loan.

—Approved the advertisement for bids for janitorial supplies and floor products.

—Approved a request for Evelyn Jacob, nurse, to attend Gulf Coast Family Advocacy Conference Nov. 19-21 in Harrison County.

—Approved a request for Helen Mestayer to attend a Superintendent's Educational Information Seminar in Gulfport.

—Approved requests for Emergency Certificates for Carol Armbruster and Katie Reed in the area of Learning Disabilities.

—Approved a request for a $350 supplement to Brenda Scianna for services as cheerleader sponsor at Gulfview.

—Approved a request for James Pair to attend Picayune School District as Accreditation Evaluator Nov. 11-13.

—Approved a recommendation to employ Stuart Waltman as a substitute janitor at Hancock North Central for the remainder of the school year.

Fire marshal investigating blaze at Kiln residence

BY DENA BISNETTE

Investigation of a fire that destroyed the home of a Fire Tower Road resident has been turned over to Hancock County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh.

According to Bill Callahan of the Kiln Volunteer Fire Department, the home of Holly Hurston was burned to the ground on Nov. 10.

He said the fire was reported by Forestry Service personnel in a nearby county fire tower, but the frame home was already heavily damaged when fire fighters arrived.

Assisting Kiln volunteers were volunteer fire departments from Fenton and Diamondhead.

PRINTING LAND ROLLS—Reappraisal Specialist Lee Bennett, left, and Hancock County Assessor-Tax Collector Edward Murtagh check on a machine printing county land rolls. The county chose to purchase the machine after finding that owning it could save about $25 per hour on printing costs, Murtagh said. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

County printing own land rolls

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Tax Assessor and Collector's office is now printing its own land rolls.

According to Assessor and Tax Collector Edward Murtagh, printing the land rolls as an in-house operation will save the county money.

The county has purchased the printing equipment for $85,000 and is also using it to print 2,000 automobile tag billings per year, 5,000 property tax billings and Homestead Exemption notices.

"This new technology will definitely pay for itself during the next couple of years. It's saving us about $25 an hour on printing costs now," Murtagh said.

The county had to get special permission from the State Tax Commission to print its own Homestead Exemptions, but that is not necessary for the printing of land rolls, he added.

About a third of the state's 82 counties currently print their own land rolls.

Three copies are made of the land rolls and one is turned over to the State Tax Commission. The other two remain in Hancock County.

One of those copies is designated for the assessor's office and the other is sent to the chancery clerk's office.

Murtagh said he adds new technology, such as additional computer capability, to his office as his budget allows.

"We've found that adding the technology gives better service to the public. We can provide them with much more information than we did before," he explained.

Double-murder investigation continues

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Law enforcement officials continue to investigate the deaths of two Hancock County women shot last week in an apparent robbery-murder.

"We have been mostly in the field this week interviewing potential witnesses," Sheriff Ronald Peterson said late Wednesday.

He also said area officers have worked a couple of days with Louisiana law enforcement officials in the investigation.

Jeannette Holden, 44, and her mother, Dorothy G. Tassin, 66, were both shot in the head early Tuesday, Nov. 11, while in their mobile home which is parked adjacent the Brass Anchor Lounge on US-90.

Both women were shot at close range in the head.

There were reportedly no signs of forced entry to the trailer door which was found unlocked.

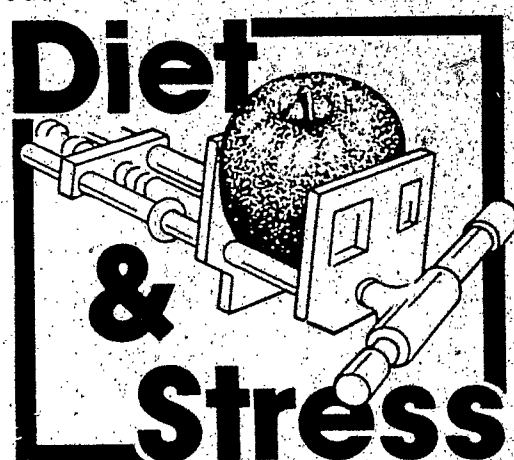

Hancock County Investigator Delbert Seay is in charge of the investigation.

or flight." The body is prepared to stay and face the stress or run from it.

The second stage is that of resistance, when stress has been prolonged or has occurred frequently. The body systems begin to lose their ability to cope when this stage lasts too long.

The third stage results when the body is depleted of its energy sources from coping with the first two stages. Exhaustion occurs.

Chronic stress is the enemy of good health. When the stress is severe enough it can be a contributing factor to fatigue.

By Karen L. Moore
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

People face stress every day but seldom fully understand what is causing it. A new area of stress being studied is the interrelationship with diet.

"We know the body uses nutrients differently during stress," said Barbara P. McLaurin, a food and nutrition specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "This is why good nutrition is so important at a time when people usually eat the worst."

Body stores of some nutrients, such as protein and fat, are depleted during stress. Other nutrients, such as vitamins and minerals, are used more efficiently, up to a point, Ms. McLaurin said.

Nutrient needs during stress are influenced by three things:

- How well the body was nourished before the stress;
- The frequency, duration and intensity of the stress; and
- Nutrient losses that occur during the stress.

"Stress is caused by not being able to deal with problems," said Norine Barnes, a child and family development specialist with the MCES. "To deal with stress we have to decide what can be changed, change it instead of continuing to worry about it and accept what we can't change and live with it."

Ms. McLaurin said stress can be physical or psychological. The body goes through three stages of stress. Each is progressively worse.

The first stage is alarm or "fight

Bay seeks grant funds for park improvement

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
A plan for improvements in several city parks was approved Tuesday by the Bay St. Louis City Council.

The Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission is applying to the U. S. Land and Water Conservation Department for grant funds to be matched by local funds for general improvements in all city-owned parks.

There is approximately $32,000 in a capital improvements account, which the commission will use to match grant funds if the application is approved, according to Bay Mayor Victor Frankiewicz.

The city has an extremely good chance of getting grant funds because of never having received these funds before, he added.

Included in the proposed general improvements are upgrading lights and benches, resurfacing for basketball and tennis courts and installing more playground equipment.

No improvements are planned at McDonald, Lafue and Commerce parks because the grant funds can only be used on city-owned property. However a portion of the $32,000 local funds is expected to be reserved to repair or replace the gym floor at the Valena C. Jones complex.

A public hearing on the grant application was conducted Monday to allow Bay St. Louis residents an opportunity to speak and offer suggestions on the application.

Suggestions from area residents included installation of playground equipment at the Ballentine Street park and using only metal equipment instead of wood.

Also at the meeting the council unanimously approved the changing of the name of Reese Street to Shieldsborough Square Lane.

Ted Ward, a merchant from Shieldsborough Square Shopping Center, presented a petition to the council for the change.

Reese Street is a short street which runs along the length of Shieldsborough Square and only businesses from the center front on the road.

Ward said as far as he knew there was no opposition to the name change.

During the meeting, Board President Lisa Coward commended Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner for supporting a petition for a bird sanctuary in West Cedar Point area.

In other business the board: —Passed a resolution to request participation for the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in proposed drainage work in Ward I.

—Approved a zoning change for John Bolian on Seventh Street to divide a section of land to allow the construction of two houses.

—Appointed Coward as voting member for the Gulf Coast Council of Governments.

North Bay participates in American Education Week

This year's American Education Week observance is being celebrated November 18-22.

The observance serves to increase public understanding and appreciation of the schools, to encourage parents to visit the schools, to secure civic and community support, and to help students gain an appreciation of what the schools are doing for them.

The theme for this year's national American Education Week observance is "School and Community: United for Excellence."

American Education Week is sponsored by the American Legion, U.S. Department of Education, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National School Board Association, and the National Education Association.

North Bay Elementary School is celebrating American Education Week with special activities.

Mayor Victor Frankiewicz participated in North Bay's morning flag raising ceremony on Tuesday.

Principal Rogers James accompanied the mayor to each class for a brief visit.

First grade students in Mrs. Deen's class made "apple" tags with this year's theme on them for the staff of North Bay to wear all week. They also took home "apples" for their parents.

In keeping with this year's theme, Winn Dixie and Jitney Jungle provided grocery bags for the students to decorate. The bags were then returned to the store for use in the checkout line.

The National Education Association and Turner Broadcasting, Inc. have joined forces to produce a special one-hour television production—Whose Schools Is It?

The broadcast will take a close look at how collaborative efforts at the local level are producing educational success stories for America's youth. The program will air on Dec. 1 at 10 p.m.

Liquor store employee arrested for illegal sale to a minor

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Hanson is an employee at Arrow Liquor Store on Dunbar Avenue. The minor was also arrested and charged with the illegal possession of liquor.

Murphy reported the minor had been released into the custody of the Hancock County Youth Court.

Hanson was released on bond from the Hancock County Jail.

Murphy also reported with the recent increase of the legal drinking age to 21, police have been more frequently checking on the various liquor stores in the city.

I have a suggestion for anyone with a washing machine after my experiences this week.

If you have had your washing machine for three or four years and haven't changed the water hoses, it may be a good idea to make sure they do not need changing.

Our washing machine is located in our utility room on the carport and the hot water hose sprung a leak and sprayed on the hot water heater.

After hearing a hissing sound, I proceeded to open the door of the utility room and my eye glasses were all fogged up.

The ceiling, walls and everything in the utility room were soaked. What a mess.

It was good that I was home and heard the water hissing when I did, as it could have been possibly a worse problem.

I know one thing, I will be keeping a close eye on washing machine hoses from now on.

Some people cut the water supply off when the machines are not in use, and this may be a good idea too, especially for those who keep their washing machines in the home.

Today is the day of the Great American Smokeout sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

It is a day folks like myself look forward to each year, as I am one of those folks with sinus problems.

I know I was a smoker myself for many years, and it was hard to quit, but I made up my mind and did it as the saying goes 'Cold Turkey' about 18 years ago.

It is hoped many more folks will give up the smoking habit, as the American Cancer Society refers to it as a 'deadly habit.'

Friday and Saturday night will be the final nights of the Waveland Players' production of 'Bus Stop.'

The William Inge romantic comedy is directed by Dottie Overall and produced by Joyce Ohman. Curtain time will be 8:15 p.m. at the Civic Center on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

The performance by the cast is great, according to reports from last week's performances, so we are hoping the theatre will be filled to capacity for Friday and Saturday night.

Tickets will be available at the door at $4 each.

Mississippi Economic Council

DEMOCRACY IN ACTION

Just a few days from now almost 100 business men and women from every region of the state will be assembled in Jackson to debate public issues facing Mississippi.

They don't represent any governmental authority, and they don't have any authority to make decisions for government, but they certainly have the ability to influence the direction in which Mississippi's government moves.

These business leaders will be debating some of the most critical problems we face—the liability insurance crisis and the question of tort reform, needed improvements in higher education, the need for a highway construction program, constitutional revision, and the economic development of the state.

They will make decisions on these issues, and they will offer recommendations to the Governor, the Legislature, to other state officials, to local governmental officials, and to other citizens.

These leaders will be in Jackson on their own time, at their own expense, just because of their commitment to Mississippi. They are the directors of the Mississippi Economic Council, the state's largest association of business, industrial, and professional leaders.

They are your neighbors and friends, your business associates, and they are working for you.

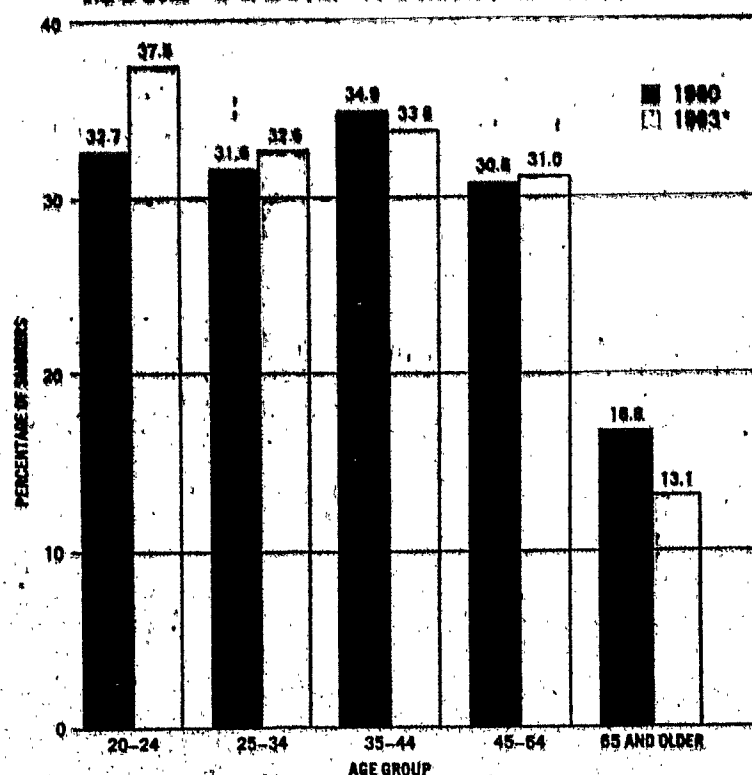

Is there a better example of democracy in action?

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

By Bill Minor
JACKSON—It's incredible that the most historic de-centralization of legislative power this century is on the verge of taking place in both the state House and Senate.

For the past two months a movement to reduce the power of the Speaker and liberalize the rules of the House has gained support of a majority of the House.

The only questions remaining on the House side are: 1. Will a major revamping of the rules be undertaken at the 1987 session, or deferred to 1988 and 2. Which of some six House members will emerge as the next Speaker?

While attention has been focused on the House developments, meantime a Hinds County circuit judge ruled that Lt. Gov. Brad Dye be stripped of key powers by which he controls the internal structure and legislative process of the Senate.

Although the court ruling is to be appealed, few in state government expect it to be overturned in the State Supreme Court which in effect laid out the guidelines for the lower court ruling.

This will mean long-standing Senate rules giving the power to lieutenant governor to appoint all members of Senate committees, and the chairman and vice-chairman thereof, as well as joint conference committees, and to refer all bills to which committees he chooses will be thrown out the window.

It is possible the Supreme Court will advance the case on its docket in order to settle the constitutional question quickly. This could mean the total overhaul of the Senate rules will have to be made in the 1987 legislative session.

All of this is happening at a time when the Senate is badly divided and sorely lacking in leadership.

Several divisive elements have contributed to the internal stresses in the Senate the past three years, chief among them being the 1985 arrest and conviction of its President Pro Tem, Sen. Tommy Brooks of Carthage, in a shakedown scandal involving a bill to legalize race-track betting.

But the Senate ranks were already coming apart before the Brooks affair over the rising opposition to Lt. Gov. Dye's personal lieutenants.

Dye tried to make the court suit appear to be a personal vendetta against him by two disgruntled Senate members, rather than a constitutional issue involving separation of powers. Obviously, the court didn't buy it.

The suit attacking his powers was brought by two young members, Sen. Steve Hale of Moss Point and Gene Taylor of Bay St. Louis who have been part of the anti-Dye faction of the Senate which developed in the 1986 session.

A big surprise of the court test of Dye's powers was that Sen. Hob Bryan of Amory, one of the few young intellectuals in the present Senate, sided with Dye and testified in his behalf.

The key Senate battle when, and if, the lieutenant governor is stripped of naming committee members will come over whether or not that power is going to be given to the president pro tem.

Already the lines are being drawn in the Senate on that question, although it is still behind the scenes at the present time.

The anti-Dye forces in the Senate are dead set against giving the power of appointing committees to the current president pro tem, Sen. Glen Dewese of Meridian, who displeased a number of senators when he held on to his powerful post as Appropriations chairman, while also becoming pro tem.

Dewese has not been able to heal the split in the Senate, nor does he appear to be the leader to save the Senate from a chaotic situation when it must do major restructuring of its rules.

Hale and Taylor, while not looked upon in the past as very influential members of the rebel forces, no doubt will gain more respect because they had the courage to challenge the system, when others wouldn't.

The two young lawmakers want to see the power of making committee assignments handed to a "committee on committees," possibly an enlarged Rules Committee with seniority, background and other committee assignments being given weight.

Even some of the older members of the Senate say it would be impossible for them to support giving Dewese power to make committee assignments if he does not give up his Appropriations chairmanship.

Lobbyists have always concentrated their efforts and money on the Senate because it is easier and less expensive to operate in a smaller body. But that practice has become even more concentrated since Dye has been lieutenant governor.

The word is that the influential lobby groups will back the effort to give committee assignments and refer bills to the president pro tem because they figure they can influence one guy a lot better than a committee.

"One-eyed" vehicles a menace in Waveland

Letter to Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

We visit our daughter every weekend in Waveland. We are planning to purchase a home there soon. We are appalled at the number of cars and trucks that drive with one headlight.

Many of your streets are dark and this is one very dangerous situation there.

I hope when we move that the situation will be cleared.

How does one obtain an inspection sticker in Mississippi when so many drive with one headlight?

We had a near miss and have not been back to your lovely city.

Dear Sir:

North Bay Elementary PTO has demonstrated unselfish generosity and support to the children of the Fifth Grade Center.

North Bay PTO has graciously donated one fifth of their funds to the fifth grade because they feel that these children worked very hard to help the PTO to raise this money.

Principal Rogers James and the North Bay PTO have recognized the needs and the limited budget of the fifth grade children from Waveland Elementary and North Bay Schools who are now attending the center.

This donation will enable the children to enjoy many activities which would not have been possible otherwise.

Such support from North Bay certainly helps to make this year at the Fifth Grade Center a very successful year.

Buddie Newman accomplishments in state government outlined

Dear Sir:

We've been hearing lately about the need for strong, effective leadership in Mississippi. That's not unusual in the months before a general election year. Everybody knows it is an old political ploy by would-be candidates and their followers to criticize those in office and demand a "change" in leadership.

As a businessman and taxpayer citizen who served in the Legislature several years ago, I want to commend a man who is providing leadership that is effective, responsible, and strong but fair. I am referring to Buddie Newman, the often maligned Speaker of the House of Representatives. Mr. Newman was not Speaker when I was a Legislator but I have followed his career closely.

People should be made aware of the good things Mr. Newman has done for Mississippi during the years he has served in the Legislature. Despite the vicious personal attacks he has endured in recent months, the record shows Buddie Newman has devoted his time and effort unselfishly to making Mississippi a better place for all of us.

He has repeatedly been denounced and censured by some groups and individuals including certain political writers and some politically ambitious legislators. Those trying to destroy this man have either forgotten or would like to ignore the fact that Mr. Newman played a major role in the passage of such important legislation as the Industrial Revenue Bond Act, the Business Investment Act, the bills creating the Mississippi Marketing Council and Mississippi Research and Development Center.

They do not admit that it was Mr. Newman who appointed a special House Committee in 1982 which recommended the Educational Reform Act. It was approved with Mr. Newman's backing in the special 1982 legislative session. They try to discredit his untiring efforts in flood control work, and belittle his unshakable commitment to financial responsibility in state government.

These are long lasting, constructive legislative achievements that will benefit our state over the years, not short sighted single issues.

How many people know Mr. Newman was named last year to receive the Distinguished Service Award of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation representing more than 147,000 people throughout the state? Or that he was only the second person ever chosen by the Delta Council for a special leadership award? Or that he was among the nation's first legislative leaders selected to receive a new National Conference of State Legislatures' Leadership Award in 1985? In short he is a recognized leader.

And it's unlikely you'll hear much from his enemies about his being chosen in April, 1985, to receive the coveted Hugh White Free Enterprise Award from the Business and Political Education Committee, a statewide group of business and industrial leaders. The award was given in recognition of his leadership "which has helped create an economic climate in Mississippi which will increase the quantity and quality of jobs in our state, thereby enhancing the opportunity for a prosperous and good life for all Missisippians."

We've had some hard times in Mississippi and they are far from being over, but, thanks to leaders like Buddie Newman, we can look to the future with confidence and pride in ourselves and our state. We ought to let him know we appreciate what he has done for us, and that we are not as easily manipulated as his detractors think we are.

Yours truly,
E.W. Clinton

Excellence, Equality, and Racism

(The following article resulted from a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association.)
By Peter Shillingsburg

English
Mississippi State
We hear about excellence everywhere: excellent workmanship, excellent service, excellent food, excellence in education, excellence in medical care, excellent sports programs. Synonyms help to reinforce the message: quality, high ranking, world class.

Bureaucrats, armed forces personnel, educators, medical people, and coaches alike are frequently quoted: "We run a quality program here. We strive for excellence."

It's undemocratic, of course. All those words, if they mean anything, discriminate between the average and the best. Excellence denotes an aristocracy, an elite; it separates the few from the many. Democracy embraces the many, cares for the average, tolerates every man.

The two ideals—excellence and equality—are basic to America, though we have always had trouble balancing their essentially opposite requirements.

Excellence demands high standards, clear-eyed and hard-nosed discrimination, while equality demands tolerance, acceptance of everyone—"your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore...the homeless, tempest-tost"—without regard to excellence. And it is a fundamental paradox we Americans often handle poorly.

For several years I have assigned my college freshman writing classes to read Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s letter to the white clergymen of Birmingham, which he wrote while in jail for conducting an illegal public parade.

And then I ask them to write an account to Dr. King, wherever he may be, describing the state of liberty and equality in the South as they know it 20 to 23 years after King's jail experience.

The essays I get show 99 percent of my white students think blacks are very well off; contented complacency glows from their certainty that Dr. King would be proud of the South now.

Nearly all my black students concede enormous improvements over the days when blacks rode in the back of buses and used "separate but equal" facilities, but they also point to continued more careful forms of "racial discrimination."

Many of them are very conscious of a need to be better, "more excellent," than their white peers in order to get the same recognition. They see lingering elements of old-fashioned racism.

In 1970, the first summer I taught in a Mississippi University, I was assigned as thesis adviser to a black candidate for a master's degree in English literature.

Her course work finished, she had written a draft of her thesis: a short, superficial treatment of a subject she clearly did not understand.

During the next two weeks, I discovered that she was very bright and capable of learning. But nobody had taken the time to find that out before.

Nobody had made her strive for excellence; her potential was unfulfilled. Apparently everyone who taught her considered her a token black, one who could be trotted out and pointed to whenever questions of racial discrimination and equal opportunity were asked.

That young lady cried with frustration more than once during the two weeks I tutored her. The thesis she produced was short and superficial and on a subject she was just beginning to understand, but most of it was wrung out of her own analysis of the materials available.

I refused to sign her thesis because it was not good enough. She had too far to go to make it in two weeks. But her teaching job depended on her "getting a degree." Someone else was found to sign the thesis and "push her through."

She is a victim of new-fashioned liberal racism, the notion that racial discrimination consists only of being unfairly hurt on blacks.

The damage done by liberal racism radiates. Fostering unjustified feelings of white superiority and black inferiority, it also tends to put a false value on acts and achievements, and obscures the difference between the mediocre and the excellent.

But "excellence" is not just a cosmetic word from the public relations department; it is a value that is blind to sad stories; it judges results, not persons or circumstances.

We cannot afford to waste the potential of our poor, our minorities, our disadvantaged by treating them as inferiors who will always need a handout.

The strength of America, of Mississippi, is to champion both equality and excellence. Racism, new or old, is impossible when these two ideals are understood and kept balanced.

"I know at last what distinguishes men from animals: financial worries."

To many, many Americans, native born or naturalized, Thanksgiving is the feast of feasts, commemorating through the years the triumph of the colonists over hardships. To many of us, it's the culinary high point of the year, traditionally centered around the golden brown turkey, with all the trimmings - and then some!

With today's shifting sands of families separated by distances and interests, of smaller groups and such, perhaps you won't be roasting a huge turkey - perhaps you will be cooking a smaller one, or the breast, or a duckling or something else - the point is to be together with those, or at least some of those you love, and give thanks.

Roast turkey will be the choice of the majority of local cooks, I think - but there the uniformity ends, according to the size and taste buds and whatever of the families and households involved.

One older couple of my acquaintance serves up on Thanksgiving Day a platter on which rests a golden brown breast, thickly sliced, and six drumsticks - she prefers the light meat, he the dark - and there's some left over for friends who happen by; or the cook of the house, sometimes one, sometimes the other, mixes the leftovers all up into a glorious turkey hash or turkey a la king or turkey-whatever until it's all gone. Ever since I can remember, the aroma of sage has permeated the house when the Thanksgiving turkey was a-cooking. The family cook of my childhood days always used sage, and when I married and set up my own household, I continued to scatter sage over the bird while it was a-roasting. When I finally got up the courage to ask Mary "why" it made the turkey so delicious, her answer was "I don't know what it does for the turkey, but it makes the whole house smell so, so good - and gets folks in the right mood for Thanksgiving Dinner" - so I continue the custom!

We all have our own ways of roasting the noble bird - some dress it in foil, some stuff it into bags, some cover it, some don't - I still do it Old Mary's way - in an open roasting pan, basting and basting again and adding a bit of Chablis or other wine as it cooks. And, of course, first mopping it well with melted butter and dusting it well with cayenne pepper and sage and black pepper.

As for the dressing or stuffing, as we call it Down South - I prefer the old-time oyster stuffing - other prefer cornbread; still others, a rice and sausage dressing. Whichever you choose, be sure to make extra dressing - in fact, I always make a huge pan of stuffing, sometimes even another one, for, as I've often thought, my family would be content with the stuffing without any turkey at all!

But, for whatever it's worth, here's the Daly-McGuire-Caire Family Formula for:

OLD SOUTH TURKEY STUFFING

For this, you need approximately 30 slices of bread (preferably French) broken into small pieces and drenched and soaked awhile in cold water, then drained well and sprinkled with dashes of pepper, salt (optional), sage and vinegar.

Meanwhile, heat a half cup of butter in a heavy skillet or saucepan, and add the finely-chopped turkey giblets, and cook over medium heat for 15 or 20 minutes. Add a half cup of chopped celery, same of green onions, and two pints of oysters, drained and cleared of any shell particles. Mix all together (I add a cup of chopped pecans at this point.)

Spoon some of this delicious mixture into the turkey, cook the remainder in a baking dish, and enjoy! Incidentally, this will stuff a 15-pound turkey, but I make three times as much, as we always relish the stuffing more than the bird!

Happy Thanksgiving!

Little Theater to present Christmas arts, crafts show

Create the "Christmas of your dreams" with help from the 40 artists, craftsmen, and merchants participating in the second annual "Creating Christmas" at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, Nov. 22 and 23, 10 a.m. - 6 p.m., at the red barn playhouse on Boardman Avenue.

The setting of this exclusive market as gifts and personal items follows a country theme this year, with the traditional Christmas colors of red and green accenting the living room and master bedroom filled with ornaments, wreaths, and gift items for everyone on a Christmas list, especially a selection of hard-to-find items.

There also will be several features not found at the traditional craft shows.

"The highlight of this second show is our display of antique, old and new quilts, made by local quilters," said Becky Rotundo, show chairman.

According to Rotundo, "The quilts, along with porcelain and rag dolls, hand hewn cradles, and lingerie will be displayed in the master bedroom setting."

Members of the theatre have selected holiday gifts, decorations, art works and holiday food items that best reflect the outstanding works of local artists. There will also be a Mardi Gras corner for decorations and call-out favors.

Santa will visit Sunday, and "Himself the Elf" will be present during show hours to guide visitors through the theatre.

A donation of $1 to the theatre restoration fund will be accepted at the door.

INTERNATIONAL PROGRAM—Hancock County Extension Home Economist Darlene Underwood, left, and Homemakers' Council President Charlotte Edwards talk with Eladieto Alcan, planned speaker for an upcoming Extension program on the Philippines, Alcan of the Philippine Diplomatic Corps will present a program on the Philippines Friday, Nov. 21 at 7 p.m. in the Crawford Room at the Bay St. Louis Library. Enter the library from the Ulman Street side. The program is sponsored by the Hancock County Extension Homemakers' Council International Committee. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Fathers do count

Both mother and father need to bond with baby

"Bonding," that love-at-first-sight attachment between parent and child, sets the stage for all subsequent human relationships, according to Norine Barnes, a child and family development specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

"We associate the term bonding with the mother, partly for the biological reason that mother and baby had a mutual bond predating the child's birth. Following birth, it's the mother who usually cares for the infant and still has a majority of the physical contact with it, including breast feeding," Mrs. Barnes said.

This bonding also exists between father and his newborn. According to child development experts, the "feedback" system between infant and parent involves emotional communication through touching, smiling, eye contact and vocal sounds.

Apparently, fathers can—and many do—display the same kind of bonding as mothers. Illinois psychologists conducting a 10-year study of observations of parents and infants during a six- to 40-hour period following delivery found that fathers did not differ from mothers in holding, looking, smiling, vocalizing, kissing, touching, exploring, feeding and handling the infant to the other parent.

According to researchers, it doesn't matter who cares for the infant as long as his physical and psychological needs are being met. They say that newborns can receive a clear message of love from males, as well as from females.

Mrs. Barnes said research also indicates that babies react with as much distress at separation from father as from mother when both parents are strongly involved in caring for the child.

Studies show that involved fathers think they improve their self-image as a result. As one father explained it, "What's better for self-concept than the feeling of being needed?" These dads also report an increased understanding of their children and greater ease with expressing emotions after undergoing the early parent-child experience.

Mrs. Barnes said she and other family-life experts conclude that fathers can be as nurturant as mothers following the baby's birth and should be exposed to the same kind of concentrated getting-acquainted experience that takes place between mother and child.

Ordinance.....

time to locate all lines in the area where a company wants to build and currently must provide this information right away, he said.

"If they are going to use our right-of-way, it should not inconvenience us," Frankiewicz said.

The ordinance states that to protect the interest of public safety and prevent damage to public utilities, the city finds it necessary to regulate all subsurface work in public rights-of-way.

A permit will be required from the city before any excavation work can begin. To get a permit a company must submit an application stating the proposed locations and description of the work.

Protective measures to insure that city property and facilities will not be damaged should also be included.

The ordinance also states a company must agree to be responsible for any damages made to utilities, road surfaces and other facilities.

Line location and marking costs must also be paid by companies seeking to do excavation, except those currently paying franchise fees to the city.

Redmond emphasized this cost is basically for the outside contractors coming through the area.

"We have a real good working relationship with the phone and power companies who operate in the city," he added.

Another condition requires the applicant for an excavation permit reimburse the city for the cost of a site representative who would be on the job site while any work is being done after normal working hours and on weekends.

The application must also allow at least 72 hours notice to affected customers.

The ordinance also requires an applicant to relieve the city of any responsibility for future damages to the applicant's installation.

It should be understood the applicant's subsurface work is being permitted for the convenience of the applicant and that the city should remain able to continue to use and maintain its facilities unfettered by other installation not owned by the city," the ordinance states.

Enforcement provisions are also included in the ordinance.

The ordinance was passed under emergency provisions by the council and became effective with the public notice in today's legal section of the newspaper.

St. John Eagles prey on Tigers for 23-6 Ladner Bowl victory

BY DENA BISNETTE

After an 8-1 season, the Bay St. Louis High School Tigers have been defeated by the St. John Eagles in the 1986 Wendell Ladner Bowl.

The 2-A Eagles took a 23-6 victory over the 3-A Tigers in what turned out to be a mostly defensive game for Bay High.

Bay received the kick-off and punted back to the Eagles after an unsuccessful first series. The Eagles' first drive resulted in a touchdown.

on a fourth down play with 32 seconds left in the first quarter.

Eagle kicker Kelly Lee added a PAT to give St. John a seven-point lead.

The Tigers' next drive was a long one, taking 18 plays to set up a first and goal on the St. John one yardline.

A 18-yard pass from Tiger quarterback Dwayne Robertson to Robert Hargett set up the scoring play, then Aaron Whavers pushed his way through the middle for a touchdown.

Brian Laneaux kicked an extra point recalled by a penalty, then was unsuccessful on his second attempt to put the ball between the uprights.

With 3:21 left in the first half, Bay High was behind 7-6.

Turnovers marred the third quarter, until with about 3:30 to go the Eagles' Kelly Lee put his foot to work again, adding three points with a 44-yard field goal.

The Eagles led 10-6.

After one turnover, an Eagle drive was stopped at the Bay 11-yardline when Tiger Greg Necaize intercepted a St. John Pass.

In fourth quarter action, St. John's attempt for a 54-yard field goal was unsuccessful and Bay High took the ball back on the Tiger 20.

Bay punted after an unsuccessful series, but Eagle Brian Saffie blocked the punt. St. John's Jimmy Van Alstyne grabbed the ball and ran it in for a touchdown and long yardage.

Lee added a PAT on a kick. With 7:05 left on the clock, the Eagles led 17-6.

The Tigers attempted to rally in the last seven minutes, but their chance to narrow the margin on the scoreboard ended with an interception on the St. John 40.

The Eagles drove the ball down inside the Tiger five and handed it to Chris Brignac. Brignac found a hole in the Tiger defensive line and crossed the goal line to score with only 19 seconds left in the game.

Lee's PAT posted a final score of 23-6.

Necaize was named Bay High's most valuable defensive player for the game. Whavers was selected as offensive MVP.

The Ladner Bowl was played at Hancock North Central and is sponsored by the Hancock North Central 50 Yard Line Booster Club. Funds raised by the game will benefit the Hancock North Central Hawks.

The game is named in memory of the late Wendell Ladner, a Hancock North Central graduate who went on to play professional basketball.

POPLARVILLE—Two Pearl River College freshman football players have been named to the elite National Junior College All-Region 23 team.

Running back Thurman Geathers (6'-2", 205) from Georgetown, S.C., picked up the All-Region 23 honors as well as being named to the first team All-State list.

Geathers picked up 803 yards for a seven yard average and scored three touchdowns. He is in the Wildcat Record Book with the third best all-time rushing year and individual game. He picked up 184 yards against Mississippi Delta to set the game mark.

Roy Wayne Jones, who was the most valuable player in the Louisiana All-Star Game this past summer, is the only freshman to make the All-Region 23 defensive team. Jones (5'-11", 225) had 67 tackles, 33 assists, 12 and one-half quarterback sacks, and one interception. He blocked two punts and scored eight points.

Two other PRC freshmen received All-State honors. New Orleans offensive tackle Devon Rogers (6'-5", 300) made the first team All-State list and wide receiver Anthony Robinson (6'-4", 210) of Prichard, Ala. made the second All-State Team.

Robinson had 16 receptions for 235 yards and five touchdowns. He averaged 15 yards per catch.

Pearl River sophomores getting post season honors include Poplarville linebacker Greg Amacker (6'-1", 210) and defensive tackle Marshall Roberts (6'-2", 270) from Covington, La. Amacker and Roberts made second team All-State.

Amacker had 57 tackles, 45 assists, two-and-one-half sacks and he blocked one punt. Roberts had 51 tackles, 41 assists and nine quarterback sacks.

Pearl River participants in the annual Mississippi Junior College All-Star game will include Amacker, Roberts, and safety Dennis Rhodes of Bay St. Louis; quarterback Scott Favre of Hancock North Central and offensive guard Jordan Bradford of St. Stanislaus High in Bay St. Louis.

Mike Nelson and his PRC assistants will coach the South All-Stars in the December 6 game.

Nelson said he was very pleased with the 7-3 1986 Cats. "Our 16 sophomores did an excellent job this year," Nelson said. "I'm sure several will have an opportunity to play senior college ball."

Nelson said he has 15 starters returning with 39 sophomores.

DOUBLE WINNER—Tory Lowe of the Bay St. Louis Junior High Tigers displays MVP trophies he earned in the recent McNell Dixie Youth Bowl in Picaune and the Crab Bowl at Lakeshore. Lowe was named most valuable player overall in the McNell Bowl and most valuable player on defense in the Crab Bowl. The Tigers took a 48-0 win over Pearl River Central Junior High in the McNell Bowl and were undefeated for the year before suffering a 6-0 overtime period loss to Pass Christian Junior High in the Crab Bowl. SSC cagers fall to Long Beach 62-51

The Long Beach Bearcats, under the steady guidance of Coach Bob Cuccaro, withstood a fierce second half comeback by Coach Chuck Genin's St. Stanislaus Rockchaws to take a 62-51 decision over the Rocks at the SSC gym Friday night.

The St. Stanislaus Junior Varsity, coached by Jerry Spell, breezed to a 40-14 win in a preliminary contest.

The Varsity Rockchaws were down by nine points at halftime, but rallied to outscore the Bearcats 21-6 in the third quarter to take a 44-38 lead going into the final eight minutes of play.

"Our team showed a lot of guts and character coming back from being nine down at halftime. In the locker room, we went over again how to execute the fundamentals of our offensive game plan."

SSC relinquished the lead to Long Beach for good with 5:03 left in the 4th quarter. Long Beach Coach Bob Cuccaro said he was impressed by Stanislaus' second half surge, but he felt that eventually the momentum would switch back to the Bearcats.

Cuccaro stated after the game, "Having coached Chuck (Genin) in high school, I knew what kind of competitor he was. He's got his boys playing good, sound basketball. He's going to win plenty of games."

An ironic statistic was the fact that SSC shot 47 percent from the floor in the first half and were down by nine points, and decreased to 28 percent in the second half.

"We had a lot of turnovers, but we can correct them. We need to get more playing time under our belts," stated Genin. "I'd like to give Josh Bowles, Louis Schuff, and Steve Montagnet credit for leading that third quarter surge. It put new life into our ballclub."

Leading scorers for Long Beach were Robert Taylor and Robbie Russell with 22 points each, followed by Kevin Monson with 12 points. For SSC, Bowles had 15, Keller 11, and Schuff and Montagnet each had nine.

Genin concluded his post-game remarks by saying, "Once we learn to play consistent for all four quarters, we'll become a better team."

In the Junior Varsity game, SSC jumped out to a comfortable lead and never was seriously threatened. Leading the Rocks were Francisco Colon with 13 points, and Bert Dean with 9. None of the Bearcat players had more than six points.

Next Friday the Rockchaws travel to Gulfport to play St. John Eagles. The Junior Varsity contest begins at 6:30, followed by the Varsity at 7:30.

Season opener nears

HATTIESBURG—With only two weeks before the Lady Golden Eagles' basketball season opener, head coach Kay James has been pleased with the progress of the team.

"We have installed offenses and defenses we plan to use this season," James is quick to point out several players' performances in practice and in the scrimmage games.

"Lesha Franklin has really played well in the scrimmage games," she said. "She has been very consistent throughout the pre-season. I think we will get a lot of help from other players such as Amy Heiden, Alisa West and Sharon Varnado."

"Franklin, a JuCo graduate from Phillips College, averaged 19.9 points per game and 10.0 rebounds. She was a unanimous All-American pick after her team won the Little NCAA championship two consecutive years.

Returning players from last year's team that posted a disappointing 12-15 record are junior center Sharon Varnado, second on the team in scoring (13.9) and third in rebounding (8.5), senior guard Amy Heiden who averaged 4.8 points and 3.1 assists last season, and sophomore forward Alisa West averaged 2.7 points and 2.2 rebounds per game.

"We feel that the team is beginning to jell and pick up on the major offensive concepts more in practice," James said. "Our outside game has developed with Franklin, West and Heiden at the point."

James says without a question "an athlete to watch" this season will be Varnado.

The Lady Golden Eagles will have their annual Black & Gold scrimmage in Green Coliseum Nov. 22, at 1:30.

USM will open its season in the Northwestern Louisiana tournament Dec. 4-5, in Natchitoches, La. The Lady Golden Eagles will play Louisiana College in the first round of the tournament.

USM will host Mississippi College on Dec. 9 at 7:30, in Green Coliseum for the first home game of the season.

USM golf results listed

HATTIESBURG—USM's Golden Eagle golf team competed in the Hal Sutton Invitational in Shreveport, La., Nov. 9-11, finishing seventh in a field of 17. The tournament, hosted by Centenary College, was plagued by wind, rain and cold, and shortened to 36 holes because of weather conditions. It was originally slated as a 54-hole event.

The Eagles finished only five strokes out of fourth place in the tournament, which was won by Arkansas.

Low scorer for the Eagles was Glen Hnatuk with a 36-hole score of 73-73-147, followed by Voyed Couey with a 73-76-149; Gary March with a 75-78-151; Johnny Racciatti with a 78-75-153; and George Kallish with a 80-77-157.

Teams entered in the tournament and their scores were: Arkansas 571; Ole Miss 578; Northeast Louisiana 585; Southwestern Louisiana 595; North Texas State 595; Mississippi State 596; Baylor 598; USM 600; Centenary 600; Kansas 602; Houston Baptist 604; Texas-San Antonio 609; Southeastern Louisiana 613; Abilene Christian 614; Hardin-Simmons 627; UNO 631; and McNeese 633.

The fall tournament season is now over for the Eagles, and the next tournament will be the Florida State Invitational in Tallahassee Feb. 19-20.

Tournament is next for Lady Eagles

HATTIESBURG—The Lady Golden Eagle volleyball team closed its regular season with a win over Mississippi State in Starkville.

Sandra Williams, Sharon Montgomery and Laine Davis combined for 39 kills in the match. Williams and Montgomery also had 10 digs each.

"It's like I've said the last four weeks that our young team has constantly shown improvement and played consistently each match," head coach Helen Grant said. "We have won our last four matches."

USM defeated Southwestern Louisiana in five games, 0-15, 8-15, 15-8, 15-13, 15-11; Nicholls State in three games, 15-7, 15-6, 15-10; and Jackson State in three games, 15-2, 15-6, 15-12.

"I am looking forward to a good showing in the Metro tournament," Grant said. "The way we've been playing anything is possible."

Going into the tournament defending Metro champ Florida State is seeded No. 1, followed by No. 2 South Carolina, No. 3 Cincinnati, No. 4 Virginia Tech, No. 5 Louisville, No. 6 Memphis State and No. 7 USM.

Florida State has won the Metro tournament title two of the past three seasons. Last year, they defeated second-seeded South Carolina in four games to win the championship. South Carolina took the league title two years ago in 1984. In six years of conference competition, five different schools have won the title.

The Lady Eagles will travel to Blacksburg, Va., to compete in the Metro Conference Championships Nov. 20-22. USM will play second-seeded South Carolina in the first round.

Three long-time county employees retire

EVELYN TURCOTTE

Turcotte retires from tax office after 21 years

BY DENA BISNETTE

Evelyn Turcotte has dealt with everything related to taxes in Hancock County from car tags to new personnel for the past 21 years.

Turcotte recently retired from her job as bookkeeper for the Hancock County Tax Assessor and Collector's Office, where she started as a clerk in February 1963.

During the 21 years, she said the tax office has moved from a one-room, four-worker operation under the jurisdiction of the county sheriff to a separate county department with about 20 employees working in a building the county purchased specifically to handle the growth in the tax collection and reappraisal systems.

"When I first came to work I didn't know two things in the world," Turcotte said. "I've had to catch on to millages and valuations."

"There have been lots of changes. At first we did everything manually and now, of course, it's on computers. I've never fooled much with the computer myself but it has been a big help to us," Turcotte said.

The way the county's tax collections are handled has also changed. When Turcotte started, the sheriff was also the tax collector.

"We were really divided into two offices when the sheriff was the tax collector, but it was still a very busy place. The work actually got easier after the two functions were divided," she explained. "I got cashier after it was divided."

"The tax collector's office is always a busy place."

Sheriffs and tax collectors Turcotte has worked with during her career include Sylvan Ladner, Fred Curet, the late George Heitzman and the present tax collector, Edward Murtagh.

Murtagh said he has always been pleased to have Turcotte's assistance, both in office matters and in training new personnel.

"She has always been a very dedicated employee who has worked above and beyond the call of duty," Murtagh said.

"Mr. Murtagh runs a very good office here. He is constantly trying to improve it," Turcotte said.

The volume of business the office is doing has grown steadily, Turcotte said.

"NASA brought change," she said. "People started coming in from outside the county."

"There are also a lot more subdivisions than there used to be, and when I started, not everyone had cars. Now some families have three or four cars."

Whether the questions concerned property taxes of a tag for an 18-wheeled truck, Turcotte has had to answer nearly all of them at one time or another. She said she has particularly liked working with the big truck tags and helping to prepare the delinquent tax sale notices for publication.

What she has enjoyed most is dealing with the people who come into the office.

"I have met many fine people. They have all been very nice. It's seldom that someone will give you a hard time about paying his taxes and after they'd leave, you'd realize that you couldn't blame them," Turcotte said.

She has also seen many of the employees of the tax office come and go.

"There have been so many, but I've never met one who wasn't pleasant to work with. Sometimes I still see a few of them."

"I'll really miss some of these folks," Turcotte said.

"This kind of work has been something I have enjoyed, and I have always looked forward to coming to work."

"Now for a while I am just going to sit home and rest, then there are always places to go and a lot to do." "I'm hoping to keep my health and enjoy a long retirement."

Kenney retires after 18 years as bookkeeper

BY DENA BISNETTE

Three Hancock County chancery clerks have referred their bookkeeping problems to Elsie Kenney for 18 years.

Kenney officially retired recently, but has continued to assist the county on a part-time basis by training her successor, County Comptroller Ken Walker.

She began working for the county in 1966 under Chancery Clerk Marie Quintini, then went to work in 1972 for Chancery Clerk John Rutherford, who is now circuit clerk. During the last six years, she has worked with Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise.

During her years as bookkeeper, Kenney has seen many improvements in both the financial condition of the county and the way the bookkeeping office carries out its day-to-day operations.

"I began when the county's financial condition was not what it should have been," she said.

"Then in 1972 the revenue sharing program began to run on a sound financial basis, and we started getting a good amount of oil and gas severance tax," Kenney explained.

She said those two funds gave the county the boost needed for improvement.

"County growth has been a tremendous thing," she said.

Revenue sharing is being phased out and severance tax collections have dropped drastically, but at one time those two revenue sources provided the county with about $500,000 each, she added.

The bookkeeping department had a single bookkeeper and a part-time assistant and now consists of three full-time workers.

"When I started it was all done manually. We went to computers supervisors financial reports and prepared budgets for every agency in the county.

"I like working with figures. I could work with them 24 hours a day. To me it was an intellectual challenge from the first and very, very interesting," Kenney said.

"One of the things about this job that I have enjoyed has been working with everybody involved in the different agencies like the supervisors, clerks and department heads," she added.

Kenney has worked with three different boards of supervisors. The only member of those boards who has been in office the entire time Kenney has worked for the county is Beat Two Supervisor A.A. Kellar.

"Each board was very different in personalities but they were all interesting to work with. The board we have now is an extremely good group of men to work with, because they cooperate with us in the bookkeeping office," she said.

She added that the bookkeeping office has always worked in cooperation with the tax assessor and collectors office.

Kenney said the job has also provided her with some unexpected memories, including coping with Hurricane Camille and a bomb threat at the Courthouse.

"The worst thing that ever happened to me in this job was when Hurricane Camille hit," she said. "We had to move out of this building and move all the records to Bay Senior High and work from there. The school was one of the few buildings that had electricity."

"Everything still had to be out on schedule for the meeting on the first of the month, and we were already short-handed because everybody had damage at home."

ELSIE KENNEY

about 1961," Kenney said.

"The computers didn't make the work any easier, but the reports are much better than we could do manually and give a much clearer picture of the county's financial state."

Kenney already knew what part of her work would be when she took employment with the county.

"County government bookkeeping was not new to me, because I had worked with my brother, Warren Carver. He was a former state auditor and used to be mayor of Bay St. Louis," she said.

Although as bookkeeper she was involved in the functions of county government to some degree, Kenney said she never wanted to be in the public eye as elected officials are.

"I like to stay in the background. I just give information if somebody asks for it," she said.

Kenney said bookkeeping is a more comprehensive job than many people think. As a county bookkeeper she took care of personnel records, prepared the county payroll, kept records on employee benefits and assisted in the investment of surplus funds to generate interest for the county.

She and her staff also handled accounts payable, made certain that county revenues were placed in proper funds, handled all of the board of

"There was no air conditioning because there was very little electricity available and it all had to be used for the calculators."

"Somehow we got it all together in time for the meeting."

The bomb threat occurred when Kenney was working with Rutherford.

She said Rutherford took a telephone call, then told the women working in the office to get their purses and come outside to the courthouse parking lot.

"We had all these records out that I had worked on for years and years. When I found out what was happening, I ran back inside and started gathering them up. I had put too much work into them to lose them all. John asked me what I thought I was doing," she explained.

"I said, 'I'm not doing all this over again.'"

"That wasn't funny when it happened but I think it's funny now." Necaise, who has worked closely with Kenney since he took office, said losing her to retirement is "like losing a good friend."

"The heartbeat of the county is in the bookkeeping department and you have to have someone you can depend on there. I have always been able to depend on her," the clerk said.

DOROTHY BIELSTEIN

Bielstein retires at Civil Defense

BY DENA BISNETTE

After more than eight years' work with the Bay-Waveland Hancock County Civil Defense Department, Dorothy Bielstein retired.

Bielstein had assisted Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin since March 1978, when she joined the department as a clerk-typist.

Although she was still technically classified as a clerk-typist when she left the department, she said she discovered shortly after being hired that the job involves more than typing and answering the telephone.

She called the job "a real learning experience."

"When I first started I didn't think I'd ever learn anything. It was different from anything I had ever done," she said.

Bielstein and Boudin had to learn together, because he had been director for little more than one year.

"We went to meetings together and we went through training, but we really learned from experience. It was during the Easter Flood in Pearlinton in 1979 or 1980 that we learned where to call and who to call. We got to do it all again when the tornado hit Gulfview School."

"Working after hurricanes has been particularly interesting and very hectic. We had been through Hurricane Bob and Hurricane Frederick while I was there, but this past year was something else. There was so much to be done the Red Cross stayed in our office for 17 days," Bielstein said.

"I enjoy doing things that help other people. It has been rather difficult at times, but we have always managed so far," she added.

One aspect of the job Bielstein said she particularly liked was communication with people in different lines of work.

"I've talked with everyone from federal agency officials to disaster victims," she explained.

Among those with whom she has had continued radio contact have been county workers, members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, fire departments and law enforcement personnel.

Dispatching through the Civil Defense Department for county crews began about seven years ago as a money-saving measure.

"I had to learn about all the county equipment. At first I didn't know what they were talking about," she commented.

"Now at least I know what a backhoe is."

"You just have to develop a knack for getting information out of people."

"I have particularly enjoyed working for the Board of Supervisors. They have always been cooperative with us. I think we have a good group of supervisors here," Bielstein said.

She added that the follow-up procedures and paperwork after floods, hurricanes and other natural emergencies were also very educational for her.

"I learned a lot about people and about the workings of governments and their agencies," Bielstein added.

"There are very few local agencies this job has not touched upon in one way or another," she commented.

"We always worked closely with the Red Cross and I really enjoyed working with Thelma Kergosien, who has also retired."

Bielstein said one of her most interesting encounters with a federal agency was when she worked with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on a tri-state hurricane plan.

"There were times you cried a lot and times you laughed. There were also times you felt you couldn't do enough for people," she said.

Bielstein plans to continue working with the public during her retirement by increasing her activities with the Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Post 77 Auxiliary and with her church, Lutheran Church of the Pines in Waveland.

Bielstein is being succeeded by Lynnette Carbon.

MSU fall enrollment shows freshmen up, total down

Despite a decline in the number of 1986 Mississippi high school students indicating a desire to attend college, Mississippi State University registered an increase in the enrollment of first-time, full-time freshmen for the fall semester.

Final but unofficial figures show new freshman enrollment to be 1,804, an increase of approximately 50 from the total first-time, full-time freshmen registered in 1985.

Overall, the university had an enrollment decline. Enrollment for the 1986-87 school year is 11,486, a drop of 177 from last year's final total of 11,663 at the Starkville campus.

University officials involved in new student recruiting expressed pleasure at the freshman enrollment level.

"According to information we received, 200 fewer Mississippi public and private high school students took the American College Test during the 1985-86 school year," said vice president for student affairs Roy H. Ruby.

"In spite of this, MSU was able to show a gain in new freshmen and for that we are very happy."

Ruby said the ACT information is significant because 85 percent of MSU students are state residents and the test is mandatory for enrollment in state universities.

Last year's large graduating class—one of the largest in the university's history—and an overall decline in the 1985-86 enrollment at the state's junior colleges were cited as possible reasons for the enrollment drop.

"Last academic year (1985-86), the university graduated nearly 2,700 students at all levels," Ruby said. "It's no small task to replace a group that large."

Q. Is it true that cocaine is on the uprise in Mississippi? (K.T. Pascagoula, MS)

A. Yes, cocaine is on the uprise in our state. There is an abundant supply of cocaine on the market now and the supply seems to be increasing.

This can be attributed to an increase in the use due to the availability, the drop in price, and the increase of "Crack". "Crack" is selling for as little as $5.

Flowers gave a report on the PTO's distribution of funds, which was as follows: a new PA system, $1500 was given to the Fifth Grade Center's Parent Organization; a VCR camera and playback recorder, two color televisions, three complete Laser computer systems, Halloween supplies, blank VCR tapes, and two ceiling fans.

Flowers also reported the Halloween Carnival was a great success both financially and socially.

Mrs. Kathy Chapman's fourth grade class was announced as being the winner for attendance award for two PTO meetings.

Cardinal Associates, Inc. was the company chosen by the PTO Board to furnish the products to be sold as the major fund raiser.

The goal of the fund raiser is for T-shirts and sweatshirts with the school name and mascot were shown to the audience. These can be purchased through the PTO Board and at PTO meetings.

An update on the current heating system and the new heating system was given by Flowers and North Bay's principal, Mr. Roger James.

Flowers announced the public hearing which was to be held at Bay Senior High's Cafeteria on Thursday, Nov. 13. He urged all parents to attend this very important meeting. The meeting was to explain public policies and the duties of the school board members.

Pass High coed in state competition

Violet Fleming has been selected as Pass Christian High School's Century III Leaders winner and is now eligible to compete in the state competition.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Cham Fleming of Pass Christian. She is an honor roll student and a member of the Beta, Science and French Clubs and Future Homemakers of America.

She has served as Annual staff editor, secretary of the Student Council, Homeroom vice president, Beta Club president and is on the newspaper staff. She also has been on the Quilts and Scholars' Bowl Team.

Now in its 12th year, the Century

III Leaders program is designed to bring together student leaders to discuss issues facing America in its third century. Students are judged at the local school level on leadership abilities, school and community involvement, a short essay written on an issue facing America, and a current events examination.

One particularly outstanding senior will eventually collect a $10,000 scholarship which goes to the Century III national winner. The person is selected at the Century III Leadership National Conference, March 6-8 at Colonial Williamsburg, Va. National semifinalists earn additional $500 awards.

Two students from each state and the District of Columbia, chosen from winners at each participating high school receive $1,500 scholarships and all-expense-paid trips to the Williamsburg conference. Two alternates from each state receive $500 awards. Six finalists from each state receive $100 scholarship awards.

In all, the Century III Leaders program awards $249,100 in scholarships and provides for 102 students to attend the Williamsburg conference. This program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and funded by the Shell Companies Foundation, Inc.

COMMENTS

It is hard to believe another holiday season is almost upon us! But what a relief to know that shopping is such a pleasurable convenience now that North Shore Square is a part of St. Tammany Parish and our surrounding areas.

With the additions we've made throughout this year, plus department stores like D. H. Holmes, JCPenney, Mervyn's and Sears, we'll be able to offer you an even greater merchandise variety this season. This variety, combined with our friendly service, relaxed atmosphere, and convenient parking, proves that North Shore Square truly does have "Everything Closer to Home" for the holidays and every day of the year.

We hope our magazine will entertain you, give you some gift ideas, and inform you about North Shore Square and the community. So read on, enjoy, and be sure to let us know what you think.

Best wishes for a safe and happy holiday season.

The next thing to consider is style. Look for furniture that offers versatility and an appearance that can easily blend with different decors. Don't settle for anything less than a high quality fabric, one that is soil resistant or Scotch Garded for longevity. Cushions, arm caps, and pillows that can be inexpensively replaced are also pluses. Total re-upholstery can be very costly.

Always try to gather all the facts you can find about the furniture you are considering purchasing. Keep in mind that the most expensive is not

"The Nutcracker" is a Delightful Holiday Tradition

A Christmas tree which grows out of sight. A mouse king with 7 heads. A battle of toy soldiers. The lovely Sugar Plum Fairy.

A new Spielberg movie? No, it's one of the area's most cherished holiday traditions—the New Orleans City Ballet's presentation of "The Nutcracker".

The plot is based on a fairy tale entitled "The Nutcracker and the Mouse King" written by E.T.A. Hoffman of Germany in 1812. It was first performed as a ballet in St. Petersburg, Russia, in 1892.

"The Nutcracker" quickly became a beloved holiday classic since it tells the story of a Christmas party at which little Clara receives a toy-like nutcracker from strange old Dr. Drosselmeyer. That night Clara dreams of a tremendous battle between huge mice and toy soldiers, led by her nutcracker come-to-life.

After Clara's quick thinking wins the battle, the nutcracker changes into a handsome young prince. Together they go to a delightful celebration in the Land of Sweets.

The New Orleans City Ballet adds an extra dash of interest to the story by setting it in a grand New Orleans home at the turn-of-the-century.

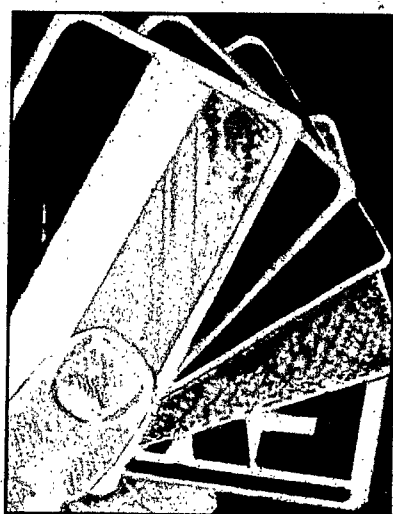

It is interesting to learn that the story's author, Hoffman, modeled the weird Dr. Drosselmeyer after himself. The family in the story is based on the Hitzigs, friends of Hoffman's.

Don't Leave Home Without The Right Credit Card

Paying with plastic is an American way to shop. But picking the best bank card and getting approved for your first one doesn't make it easy to leave home with the best one.

Although there are only a few nationally accepted credit cards—Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Diner's Club, Carte Blanche—the terms and fees vary greatly. In addition, prestige versions of cards, such as the American Express Platinum Card or Visa's Premier Card, are adding to the choices.

Each of the thousands of banks, savings and loans, and credit unions which issue a Visa or MasterCard is allowed to determine its own interest rate, fees, and time period during which you can pay before interest accrues.

To get the best card for you, decide how you will use it. If you will maintain a high monthly balance, you should shop around for a card with either a low interest rate or a rate that adjusts with the market. Some cards even charge a lower interest rate for

Jill Faulk, Manager
The Pine Factory

Although his story has enchanted children for over a century, the author had a very sad childhood. When his parents separated, Hoffman lived with his sickly grandmother and his mother who often had hysterical fits. Hoffman described his childhood as an "arid heath without blossoms or flowers."

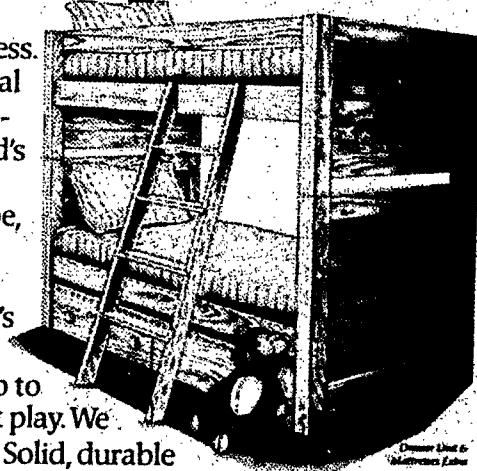

Although "The Nutcracker" plotline was taken from one of Hoffman's short stories and set to the immortal music of Tchaikovsky, Hoffman was also a musician, working with the opera and theatre. His work as a music critic set a pattern for later music reviews by his method of verbally describing the effects of the music.

Hoffman's eccentric humor, cultivation of the absurd, and interplay among the realistic and the fanciful were all elements of his personality which make "The Nutcracker" a timeless Christmas favorite.

Performances of "The Nutcracker" will be in the New Orleans Theater of the Performing Arts in Armstrong Park at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., December 27-29; 2 p.m. on December 30. For ticket information, call Ticketmaster or the NOCB at 522-0996 in New Orleans.

larger balances, making it more economical to put all charges on one card.

On the other hand, if you usually pay off each month's balance, you'll want to pay more attention to the annual fee cost. Banks in Texas and Missouri can't charge fees but they often compensate by eliminating grace periods, meaning interest will start being charged on the day the transaction is reported to the bank.

A few banks even charge you for each transaction. This could add up if you use your card a lot.

If you want an American Express, Diner's Club, or Carte
Blanche, shopping around won't help. The terms are set on the national level. However, these cards are especially useful if you travel and entertain frequently.

The annual charges for prestige cards are higher than regular versions but they come with a higher credit limit and various special services, such as check cashing, a separate line of credit or year-end itemized billing.

Getting Your First Card:

According to an executive at a local financial institution that issues bank cards, banks use one of two systems to evaluate card applicants. Utilizing a variety of criteria, some banks use a point system while others use a default system in which you have to match in every category on the application.

In general, your application is reviewed for stability and ability to repay. Stability is determined by your length of residency and employment and by your credit references.
Ability to repay the issuer is determined by income.

If you've had trouble being accepted for a card, here are some ideas to try.

- Include a letter giving extra information which might help. For example, if you haven't worked or resided at the same place for long, maybe you could point out that you lived longer at your former address or were previously a student.

- Don't include gasoline credit cards as a credit reference. Their monthly balances are usually low. Believe it or not, American Express won't help either since you're required to pay it off each month. Instead, list department store cards which are usually easier than a bank card to get.
- If you have a bad credit history, pay your bills promptly.
- If all else fails, you might be able to get a guarantor for a year. This would allow you to get a card based on another person's good credit record.

Finally, if you ever have a financial crisis, such as losing your job, the bank executive says you should write—don't call—your bank card issuer and return the card with an explanation. Make an offer on the amount you think you can pay each month and assure the issuer that you intend to eventually pay everything back. Making this effort can save your credit rating.
